Under the Scheme, Rural Artisans living below poverty line are to be given improved tools to enable them to enhance the quality/quantity/ marketability of their products and reduce their drudgery. Initially, it was launched in selected districts later from 1995-96 it was extended to entire country except UTs of Delhi and Chandigarh. Under this scheme, artisans from different crafts except weavers, tailors, needle workers and beedi-workers are provided improved toolkits. The average cost of toolkits is Rs. 2000/- and the unit cost is to be fixed by the DRDA concerned. The artisans are required to contribute 10% of the cost of the tool-kits as their contributions with the balance 90% being met as subsidy from the Government of India. The use of power driven toolkits upto the cost of Rs. 4500/- has also been permitted under the scheme. Beyond this, it is to be linked to loan under IRDP. At the district level the DRDA is the nodal agency for implementation. The prototype of improved tools in pottery, carpentry, blacksmithy, leather work, wood crafts, metal craft and lacquerware have been developed by the National Small industries Corporation, Regional Design and Technical Development Centre under the Development Coommissioner, Handicraft and other organisations. If the State Governments feel that better alternatives to improved tools suitable to local conditions are available in their States, they are free to choose these models, subject to the approval by the State Leval/District level/ Task Force/ Technical Committee set up for the purpose.

(b) No additional facilities are proposed to be provided to the rural artisans during 1997-98.

(c) The rural artisans whom the toolkits are supplied are free to manufacture any items of their choice and they are free to sell their products anywhere they like. Information regarding export of such items to other countries is not monitored.
